Ask the Regulators has been a featured element in the NRRRA Annual Conferences and is always anticipated by our members. This year this session will take a bit of a twist through the participation of former regulators and so is entitled "Ask the Ex-Regulators". As usual, this will be a highly interactive session with a good deal of audience participation expected. The session will explore with the ex-regulators issues of current as well as long-standing concern to NRRRA, such as "over-reaching", especially by certain states. It will seek to gain insight into their evolving views as it relates to these issues and the role of commissioner, and the extent to which their views may have evolved further since leaving their commission position.

The goal of this session is to enhance the understanding of participants of the role of commissioner, as viewed from those who are now looking back upon that role, in order that NRRRA and its membership may pursue a productive path forward in dealing with both domiciliary and non-domiciliary regulators and to evaluate choice of domicile in forming a RRG or re-domesticating.

After completing this course you will be able to:

- Explain the role of commissioner
- Identify insight to aid in achieving more effective interaction with both domiciliary and non-domiciliary regulators
- Explain the impact of the NAIC Accreditation process on domiciliary states.
